Sinem is a legal intern with experience in dispute resolution, arbitration, and contractual matters, and a particular interest in matters involving multinational companies. Her academic background in private law and strong engagement with legal theory complement her practical experience. During her university years, she developed a growing interest in arbitration. Keen to broaden her expertise across different areas of law, Sinem approaches her work with curiosity, dedication, and a commitment to continuous learning. She is fluent in Turkish, English, and German.
